DONATE NOW

Thanks to all our faithful donors, over the past six years, Colonial Fund dollars have allowed Shrewsbury Public Schools to invest almost $200,000 in developing new ideas, exploring new ways of learning and making curriculum changes that impact our students today, while also preparing them for tomorrow.

The Colonial Fund has sponsored impactful projects like the fourth-grade digital classroom pilot, upgrades to the high school TV studio and the transformation of the middle school technical space into a fully functioning Design Lab and maker space. We have also hosted noted speakers like Will Richardson, Chad Hymas, Lynn Lyons and, most recently, Cathy Vatterott, each of whom engaged our community in important conversations to move our district priorities forward. All of these projects were funded because of your support; they could not have been funded through the general operating budget.

“Design Lab has allowed students to learn engineering design concepts in a meaningful, real world context. They (also) develop empathy skills as they design real products for real people.”

*~ Jeremy Mularella,
Design Lab teacher*

The Colonial Fund allows our district to be dynamic and to make things happen now, when it is most beneficial for our students.

Please make your gift today and help us continue this important work.
