

Strategic Priorities & Goals Feedback

At your group table, please take 10 minutes to individually complete the following tasks:

- A. Read the enclosed copy of the Shrewsbury Public Schools Strategic Priorities for 2012-2016.
- B. Write down your responses to the questions below (we're looking for "bullet point" communication). Feel free to use the back of the sheet as well.
- C. You will then be asked to go to each set of posters and, without talking, record your thoughts regarding each of the items below and on the back. Please also add a checkmark to entries where you agree with others' thoughts.
- D. After each individual has had the opportunity to share ideas on each set of posters, you will be prompted to do a "gallery walk" and see what is written on all the posters. Talking with others about your thinking and reactions to what others' wrote is encouraged during this part of the activity.

- 1) Are there existing 2012-2016 strategic priorities or goals that deserve continued focus or additional work over the next several years? If so, what are they and why?

2) Are there topics that you believe should be added as new strategic priorities or goal areas for the next several years? If so, what are they and why?

Some topics for focus that you may want to consider that are being addressed in public education today include: financial literacy; civics education; later school start times; social and emotional learning; computer science/coding; and managing attention and focus in an age of digital distractions. These are just a few considerations, please add your own!
